About

Jibreel has a broad mixed common law practice. He has earned a reputation as a strong, robust and thorough advocate often providing solutions to complex cases. His approach to all cases is to be pro-active and communicate with others in an open and transparent manner so as to provide the best solution to any given case. His advocacy is robust and he adapts to various situations in an effective and determinative manner. He was called to the Bar in October 2018 and he gained relevant experience at a firm of Solicitors. He has also undertaken Human Rights work with a Non-Governmental Organisation on various human rights situations across the world (including Yemen, Kashmir, Alaska, Palestine). He has attended sessions within the United Nations (Palais Des Nations, Geneva) and the European Parliament. He has also assisted in organising round tables and side events in which official members of the UN and EP would regularly attend. As mentioned above, he is also a qualified football coach and is passionate about football. Jibreel has appeared in all civil claims from the small track to the multi track. His approach to these kind of cases is to always uncover the best possible solution for his clients in the circumstances. Jibreel's expertise in the Family area begins with private child law often building a strong rapport with his clients so that they feel comfortable and feel the compassion that he offers. His approach is always to resolve the issues between parties in a pragmatic manner. Alongside this, he has dealt with a wide ranging financial issues between separated parties. He adopts a similar approach to child law but his experience allows him to robustly, calmly and swiftly resolve issues outstanding between parties. Jibreel has drafted and appeared at a level challenging the point of law in respect of administration so as to ensure a fair, just and streamlined execution of administrative law. He regularly drafts grounds for judicial review on points of challenge which is aimed at deciphering and solving issues which are of great public importance. Jibreel has appeared at the First-tier Tribunal and Upper Tribunal dealing with complex public and human rights matters. He regularly advocates on the engagement of Article 8 ECHR. He often appears on matters of immigration and has expertly dealt with all relevant matters on Immigration to which he has provided effective and successful outcomes. Jibreel has built a robust understanding in matters relating to sports, particularly football and accepts instructions on this area in respect of: contracts, agency contracts, advice on sports law and the like. He is a qualified Football coach (Level 2) as has been coaching since he was 18. He is currently a Football Coach at St Lawrence School of Football and Juventus Academy London.
