About

Charlie Hutchins has established a strong reputation as a committed and capable criminal advocate since successfully completing his pupillage at Church Court Chambers. Before coming to the Bar, he gained valuable experience as a paralegal at several leading criminal law firms, giving him a thorough understanding of the needs and priorities of instructing solicitors. Charlie has represented clients across the full spectrum of criminal offences, including serious assaults, burglary and theft, drug offences, sexual offences and fraud. He also has a strong track record of achieving excellent results in road traffic cases. He is known for his calm, professional approach in court and his ability to build strong rapport with clients, combining effective advocacy with a clear commitment to client care. Feedback from instructing solicitors is consistently excellent, reflecting the confidence he inspires and the quality of service he provides. Prior to entering the legal profession, Charlie enjoyed a successful career in financial services, holding senior project and client-facing roles at HSBC and Barclays. This experience honed his meticulous attention to detail, commercial awareness and commitment to delivering excellent client service. Charlie is an authorised Grade 1 prosecutor.
