About

Keisha Gordon-Langham joined Church Court Chambers as a tenant following the successful completion of pupillage. She is a committed and talented advocate who combines sharp analytical skills, thorough preparation and persuasive advocacy with a strong appreciation of the importance of effective client care. Keisha has represented clients facing a broad range of criminal allegations, including serious violence, drug offences. dishonesty offences, criminal damage and road traffic offences. She has secured both case dismissals and acquittals, demonstrating her ability to scrutinise the evidence, identify weaknesses in the prosecution case and advance focused, effective arguments on behalf of her clients. Her advocacy has attracted excellent feedback from both solicitors and the judiciary. One instructing solicitor described her cross-examination as fantastic, commenting that she was so impressive and had given it her absolute best. A Crown Court Judge has similarly praised her, remarking: The Bar needs more people like you. Before establishing her practice at the Bar, Keisha worked as a Legal Adviser in the Magistrates Court from 2020 to 2025. She advised the Bench on law, procedure and sentencing across remand, trial, youth and anticipated plea courts, regularly dealing with bail applications, evidential issues and trial matters. This experience gave her an invaluable insight into judicial decision-making and the effective conduct of criminal proceedings. Keisha also served as a Training Facilitator with the Judicial College between 2024 and 2025, delivering training to magistrates and working collaboratively to support effective judicial practice. Keisha accepts instructions in criminal and extradition matters. She is a Grade 1 CPS panel advocate and an NMC panel advocate.
