About

Nicholas Preston is a focussed and analytically sharp criminal advocate who relishes a challenge and approaches each case with energy, precision and a determination to identify the strongest possible solution. He is quick to grasp complex issues, thinks strategically and is committed to achieving the best possible outcome for his clients, whatever the case. Nick is developing a strong criminal practice across a broad range of offences and proceedings. He has represented defendants facing the full spectrum of criminal allegations including serious assaults, witness intimidation, drugs importation, burglary and theft allegations and sexual offences. He also has experience in defending complex POCA proceedings. His strong feedback from those who have instructed him reflects his ability as an advocate with a solicitor from a leading legal 500 firm describing him as achieving excellent results with consistently clear and well-reasoned advice. A Crown Court Judge recently commended him on his courtesy, focus and composure and expressed surprise at the level his level of call, given his impressive courtroom advocacy. Nick is also experienced in representing defendants at the Youth Court and has represented clients in sexual risk order applications, closure notices and stalking protection orders.
